

ULTIMATE Barn Buddy Strategy Guide!

Important- I show you how to get free credits at the end of this report!

SOME BARN BUDDY TIPS BASIC INFORMATION

- Most important thing! You can disable annoying sounds and music!!!
- Rule of Thumb: Grab all free gifts Barn Buddy offers you as soon as you see them.
- You can adjust the Facebook settings so you do not annoy your friends with every little thing you do with these games. Disable the Automatically Post option on Facebook
- Organize your time so you work on the tasks that give you the most points first.
- When Barn Buddy changes their rules, like they did when they decided to let people buy flowers without a license. They will give the people who previously bought the now useless license a credit.
- Buy a Sign. Be careful once you name your farm it cannot be changed without buying another sign. You get Experience Points by cleaning the sign every 12 hours

CREDITS, EXPERIENCE POINTS, AND COINS – THE BACKBONE OF THE GAME

If you do not figure this out, you will never be able to master the Barn Buddy game. Everything you do involves one, or a combination of these points.. Pay close attention to the details about the tasks you need to do and their options. Some require only Coins, others only Credits. Some will give you Experience Points and Coins others credit and Coins, or some will be credit and Experience Points. These are the better tasks to get involved with!

Credit Information

- Some Barn Buddy Items can only be bought with credit, other give you a choice of credit and Coins.
- You start out your Barn Buddy adventure with 125 Credits.
- Whenever you see a FREE credit offer, grab it. Sometime it might come with a barn or something you already have, take it anyway.

Experience Points Information

- Experience Points are the only way to progress through the game to higher levels. Be sure to do all the things you can do each day to earn those Experience Points.
- On the top of the Barn Buddy page is a total of your Experience Points. Place your cursor on top of the point ans it tells you how many more you need for the next level.
- Never pass up opportunities for Experience Points, do all the tasks they offer, every day. Every little bit helps
- Plowing your fields can earn you three points per field
- Water your crops each and every day.
- Unlike Farmville, crops in Barn Buddy do not die. So if you do not water, you will not lose your crops. You will get fewer crops to sell, but they will not dry up and die
- You cannot over water, so too much water will not kill the crops, so feel free to water and have your friends water as much as you want.
- You can not stock up on water by over watering on one day to prevent drying out the next.. You need to tend to the farm every day.
- Spraying for bugs and weeds earns Experience Points.
- There are Daily Tasks for each animal.
- When it comes time to Harvest Crops or Animals you

earn Experience Points and Coins

- Do all of the above for your friends. The more friends you have, and help, the more points you can rack up
- Use these Experience Points to buy decorations. Once a day you get a free decoration, but can only get it with a certain number of Credits. Decorations can add 10 or more points to your account.

Getting Coins Information

This is the retail side of things. You need Coins to buy stuff like crops, animals and decorations or anything else Barn Buddy invents along the way. You also get Coins when you sell or your crops or animal products.

- When the time comes to harvest, and Barn Buddy tells you how long you have to wait, (see Tool Bar information) you must quickly sell your crops
- If you wait to long, you run the risk of having the stolen.
- Some animals bring in Coins income. Cows you can sell milk, chickens produce eggs to sell and sheep get sheared to sell wool
- Pay attention to the timing so you can get the highest benefit
- Sell off extra Gifts. If twelve friends sent the same gift, you might sell a few of them to earn some more Coins
- Earn Coins when doing tasks for friends

BARN BUDDY ANIMAL TIPS

Animals and crops are your livelihood in Barn Buddy just like on a real farm. You earn Experience Points every time you tend to their needs, clean, feed, water, etc. Some animals will earn you Coins because you can sell what they produce. (eggs, milk)

- In general you will learn how to invest in high profit

animals first, then add others

- A Barn Buddy dog is crucial Either refer 10 friends (easiest) or use your accumulated Credits. What the dog does is protect your property from so called friends disguised as thieves
- When you have a dog you cannot have your crops stolen or an bugs placed on your crops by these thieving friends. If you own a dog, and someone tried to steal your crops, they get caught with a nasty Barn Buddy Bite!
- The dog must be fed regularly, do not forget. Or it will not be inclined to "bite!"
- A cow is a staple and perfect for getting Experience Points for all its care, but you can also earn Coins for selling the milk. Cows can only be bought with Coins
- A pig only good for the Experience Points you get from the daily cleaning . No chance to bring home the bacon on this one
- Chickens are an "eggstravaganza" for you! You get Experience Points for tending to their needs, and you can get them to lay eggs every six hours. These you can sell for Coins. Who is going to do that 2:00AM feeding?
- Sheep will give you both Experience Points and the chance to periodically sell the wool. No wool over your eyes on this one

BARN BUDDY CROP TIPS

Crops like animals need tended and harvested. The extra element here is you not only need to tend to the crops, but also the soil. Fertile soil brings higher harvest amounts. So, to keep crops going you buys seeds, tend to the soil, keep them watered and bug free, and then harvest for dollars..

- In general, the rule of thumb is to invest in high profit crops

- Pay attention to how fast the crops grow and if they regrow after you harvest (and how often)
- When you are first starting out, to gain Experience Points and Coins you may want to do some of the faster growing crops, then as soon as possible the more profitable longer growth cycle crops for a higher return
- The way to optimize crops profits is by planting according to your daily schedule. Do not choose to plant a crop that takes 6 hours to plant on a day you only have 3 hours scheduled. This opens the door to stealing and damaging by others
- This is where working with your friends can come in. (see Friends)
- Fertilizer Facts: The lowest grade fertilizer can only be purchased with Coins
- Higher grade Fertilizer can only be purchased with credit or received as a gift
- Flowers can be expensive, but recent changes to the rules have made it easier. Formerly you needed a license to buy flowers. Now you do not
- Lower grade flowers can be bought with Coins. Special flowers need special Credits

GET BY WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM YOUR FRIENDS

- Basically, the more Friends and Neighbors you have, the more chances you get to earn Experience Points. Every time a friend does something for you, or you do something for a friend, up rack up points. The more friends, the more points. Simple as can be. Kind of like Brownie Points. A friend in need is a friend in deed
- When referring friends to Barn Buddy, add a personal message to the Facebook Invite. They will look at you more positively and may-be improve your chance of them joining

- Customize the messages your Friends see when they come on to your property and do stuff for you. Go to Preferences. There you can put in a personal and custom made message they will read when they do a task. Be nice!
- Your Friend Groups can become potential sources for some Barn Buddy helps, additional cheats and additional tips
- Referring ten friends get you a free dog. Dogs are the only way to prevent your crops from being stolen or sabotaged
- Visiting friends and neighbors frequently is good form and it helps you both to get Experience Points and Coins
- Arrange a schedule with some friends. If you can never play the game during certain hours, say you have a job, and a friend is available during that time, arrange for them to go in and tend to things during those hours you cannot. It will keep everything fresh and updated. So if the pig needs washed every 6 hours, and one of those time frames you can't do, your friend can go in and wash the pig then, so by the time you get home, it is ready for another pig bath
- Help your friend plow
- Water their crops
- Spray for bugs and weeds.
- Care and harvest animals.
- Sending gifts to friends will earn you points These offers do not come along often, so take full advantage. Your friends will return the favor.
- You can buy Credits for your friends. Click on Earn Credits at the bottom of the page and scroll until you find the Purchase Credit for friends options.
- Be careful, if you try to harm your friends or neighbors by stealing, or planting weeds and bugs, as pay back is never fun. Do unto others works quite well in Barn

Buddy. You might want to remember although they are fake friends on Barn Buddy, in the real world you have to talk to these people in person at some point!

GIFTS FROM BARN BUDDY OR TO AND FROM YOUR FRIENDS

Look for Freebies from Barn Buddies. Sometimes they will offer to give you something for free, like a barn, and it will come with free Credits.

Always be on the look for Free Gift opportunities. These gifts do not cost you anything but will save your friends money, they may return the favor.

Free gifts of things like fertilizer than only can be purchased with Credits are a particular value.

BEAT THE SYSTEM TECHNIQUE

There are not a whole lot of sophisticated Barn Buddy cheats. The best thing you can do, to at least feel like you are cheating, and earn double the trouble points is to set up a second Facebook account. This NEW account can feed things to your REAL account. Kind of like being your own friend and neighbor. Your own fall guy may be more like it. Here are tips to make this work.

- Create a new Facebook account. You need a new name and different email address (most email accounts let you create a bunch of email accounts.)
 - Your REAL self will be your NEW account's ONLY friend
 - NEW account, once up and running, will then go into your REAL farm and put a bunch of weeds and bugs.
- Then Log Off the NEW account

- Go to the REAL account and you then pick up 2 Experience Points for each weed and bug you spray. These are the double trouble Experience Points

- If your REAL account has a dog, which is a good thing, to make the above plan work you need to plan ahead for this raid. On raid day, do not feed the REAL Barn Buddy dog.. Annoyed, hungry dogs will not protect the REAL farm, and so the dog will not "bite" your NEW account. They can wreck havoc with not dog worries
- Once you reap your extra Experience Points, simply feed the dog on the REAL account and all is well, you have a happy dog again ready to protect you from other evil friends
- Along the same lines, from you REAL account you can go to NEW account and steal crops, and you can also do good friend tasks that get you points and experience, like watering, and spraying
- NEW account can send gifts to your REAL account. This gives you the chance to get more gift Coins.

ADVANCED OR MISCELLANEOUS TIPS AND ADVICE

You might need both Google Chrome AND Mozilla Firefox on your computer. Some tricks and offers only work with one or the other. You can log in to the game from either.

Before you can use the Buy Instant option you must have 1430 points.

To protect your farm from thieves, all you have to do is rearrange your house to a new location. This prevents people from stealing your crops.

You can manipulate this to your advantage by going to Barn Buddy Friends, right click and find Quality Menu. This lets you change a classification for a particular friend to Low. For these friends when you go to their farm, there will be no house, therefore no protections.

Expanding your farm is a must-- it is really the only way to earn enough points to get to the next level. Without instant buy options, you may not be able to expand until 3rd level

Birthday Cake: 1000 Credits and a birthday cake that Facebook automatically sends you on your birthday. Keep the cake 7 days and sell it or sell it immediately for 10,000 Coins (that must be some awesome cake)

Cake Trick: Go to your Facebook profile and change your birthday to the next day and then you will get the cake and Coins. You Might not want to over do this one.

Pay attention to post holiday sales so you can stock up on holiday items for the next year at discount prices. There was one in January for Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations

Hide Item Feature: Use the Arrange Items icon and it will let you hide some of the items you have.

This is needed when a special offer of a new improved item (like a Paris Hilton Dog) comes along. These items will have added features, added benefits. You are only allowed one dog, and are not allowed to sell it or send it away. So you just hide it, so you can buy the improved dog. This will work on any of those offers, that offer something better than you already have, but Barn Buddy does not let you sell or destroy the old one.
